We are kicking off the New Year with something extraordinary. This intensive one day shoot out is geared towards anyone wanting to launch his or her photography skills into the stratosphere or focus on their art with extensive training in composition, natural light and on/off camera flash. In this 12,000 square foot mansion, we have 3 unique levels of space. Each level will focus on one specialty: weddings, boudoir and family portraits. I will provide models for each area of focus. This tri-age shootout will take place in Staten Island and is designed for all levels: beginners, intermediate and advanced photographers. Early in the day, we will determine your strengths and areas, which need some improvement and place you in a proper group to help advance your skills. Jenn Rozenbaum from www.jenerations.com NYC's premier boudoir studio will be sharing some of her expertise with us. International best-seller author and educator Neil van Niekerk <http://neilvn.com/tangents/> will share his expertise on flash photography.
